1 What this does, for you

CricAuction runs the player auction for a cricket tournament and then the scoring of the matches. Your part is the beginning of it:

- 1 You register — your name, contact details, a photo and what kind of cricketer you are.
- 2 An administrator approves your account. This confirms you are a real person.
- 3 You join a tournament using a secret code the organisers give you.
- 4 The administrator approves that application, and your name goes into the auction list.
- 5 On auction day, team owners bid for you.

Everything happens in a web browser on your phone or a computer. There is nothing to install and nothing to pay for.

Two approvals, not one

The first says you are a real person. The second says you are in this particular tournament. Only the second one puts your name in front of the bidders. It is normal to wait between the two.

2 Registering

Open the application and choose Register as a player. You will be asked for:

Full name	As you want it read out at the auction
Email address	One you will keep — it is how the organisers reach you
Username	What you sign in with. 3 to 40 characters: letters, numbers, dot, underscore or hyphen. No spaces
Mobile number	Between 7 and 15 digits
Address	Where you live
Kind of player	Batsman, bowler, all-rounder or wicket-keeper
Password	At least 8 characters, with at least one letter and one number

The registration form. The two amber notes mark the fields that cannot be changed afterwards.

Your name and email address are permanent

Once you register, you cannot change your full name or your email address. Only an administrator can. They are what the administrator approves and what is printed on the auction sheet, so letting them change afterwards would mean an approved player could quietly become somebody else.

Your mobile number, address, photo and kind of player are yours to change at any time.

The check screen

Pressing Continue does not create anything yet. It shows you what you typed, with the two permanent fields marked. Read them.

READ THIS CAREFULLY

Your full name and email address cannot be changed by you after this point. They are what the administrator approves and what appears on the auction sheet. If either is wrong, go back and correct it now — afterwards only an administrator can.

FULL NAME	Nikhil Rao	PERMANENT
EMAIL ADDRESS	nikhil.rao.demo@club.test	PERMANENT
USERNAME	nikhil.rao.demo
MOBILE NUMBER	9876543210

CONFIRM AND REGISTER Go back and edit

CricAuction — auction and live scoring

Step two. Nothing has been saved at this point — Go back and edit costs you nothing.

If the name or the email is wrong, choose Go back and edit. If they are right, press Confirm and register.

You will see Registration received. You cannot sign in yet.

3 Waiting to be approved

An administrator has to approve your account before you can do anything. There is nothing you need to do while you wait, and no email will arrive — the organisers will usually tell you by whatever group you are already in.

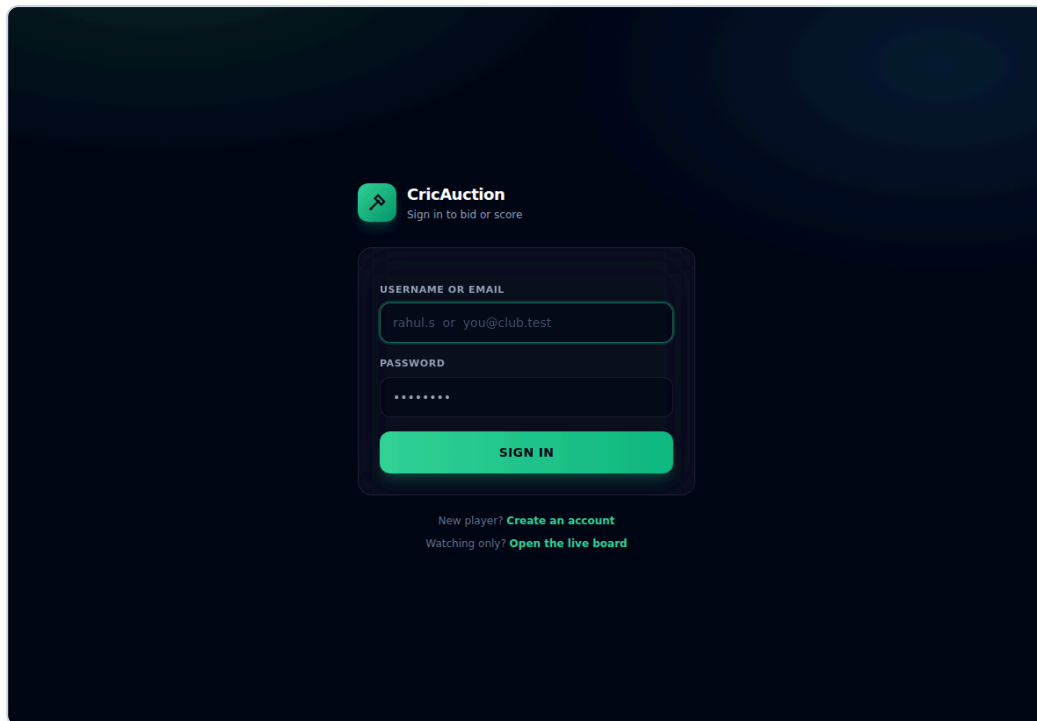

If you try to sign in too early you will see:

Your registration is still waiting for an administrator to approve it.

That message means your password was correct. Nothing is wrong. If it is still saying that after a day or two, ask the organisers.

4 Signing in

- 1 Go to the application address the organisers gave you.
- 2 Choose Sign in.
- 3 Enter your username or your email address — either one works — and your password.

The image shows a dark-themed sign-in interface for 'CricAuction'. At the top, there is a logo with a cricket bat icon and the text 'CricAuction' and 'Sign in to bid or score'. Below this is a central form with two input fields: 'USERNAME OR EMAIL' containing the text 'rahuls or you@club.test' and 'PASSWORD' containing seven dots. A red 'SIGN IN' button is positioned below the password field. At the bottom of the form, there are two links: 'New player? Create an account' and 'Watching only? Open the live board'.

Signing in. The first box takes a username or an email address.

“Those credentials do not match our records”

Shown for both an unknown username and a wrong password, deliberately — so nobody can use the sign-in page to find out who has an account. Check for a stray space, and remember your username is all lower case.

5 Joining a tournament

Once your account is approved, sign in and choose Join a tournament.

The organisers will give you a secret code — eight characters, usually sent in a group message or read out at a meeting. Type it in and press Apply.

Join a tournament

The organisers will have given you a code. Type it exactly as you received it — upper or lower case, spaces or none, it makes no difference.

TOURNAMENT CODE

E.G. KXQ7RBTM

Codes never contain the characters that get misread — no zero or letter O, no one, l or L. If you think you see one, it is something else.

APPLY

WHERE MY APPLICATIONS STAND

APL 2026
Auction 11 Aug 2026 - Starts 25 Aug 2026 PENDING

CricAuction — auction and live scoring

Joining with the code. Case and spacing do not matter.

Codes never contain confusable characters

A code will never contain a zero or the letter O, and never a one, an l or a lower-case L. Those are the characters people mistake for each other when a code is read aloud. So if you think you are looking at a zero, it is the letter O — and if you think it is the letter O, look again, because it is neither.

Upper or lower case makes no difference, and spaces and hyphens are ignored: `kxq7 rbtm` and `KXQ7RBTM` are the same code.

Applying is not the same as being in the auction

Your application goes into a queue. An administrator reviews it, and your name enters the auction list when they approve it — not before. You do not need to do anything else in the meantime.

Where your application stands

My details lists every tournament you have applied to and what has happened to each one:

STATUS	WHAT IT MEANS
PENDING	Filed. An administrator has not decided yet
APPROVED	You are in the auction list for that tournament
REJECTED	Not accepted. You may apply again — a reason may be shown

Some reasons an application is refused outright:

MESSAGE	WHAT HAPPENED
That code does not match any tournament	A typo, or the organisers have issued a new code. Ask them
Registration for ... is closed	The organisers have closed entries for now
The auction for ... was on ...	The auction has already been held. Entries closed at the end of auction day
You have already applied	Your application is already in the queue — nothing more to do

6 Keeping your details current

My details is where you keep your information up to date. This is how the organisers reach you, so it is worth being accurate.

The screenshot shows the 'My details' page in the CricAuction app. The top navigation bar includes 'CricAuction', 'My details' (active), 'Join a tournament', 'Password', 'Live auction', and user options 'Nikhil Rao', 'PLAYER', and 'Sign out'. The main heading is 'My details' with a subtext: 'Keep your mobile number, address and photo current — this is how the organisers reach you.' The form is divided into two main sections. The left section, titled 'PERMANENT — SET AT REGISTRATION', contains fields for 'FULL NAME' (Nikhil Rao), 'EMAIL ADDRESS' (nikhil.rao@club.test), 'USERNAME' (nikhil.rao), 'MOBILE NUMBER' (9876543210), 'ADDRESS' (22 Fort Road, Kochi), 'KIND OF PLAYER' (All-rounder), and 'PHOTO' (Choose File). The right section, titled 'MY TOURNAMENTS', shows a 'Join one' button and a list of tournaments, including 'APL 2026' with a 'PENDING' status. A 'SAVE CHANGES' button is at the bottom left. The footer reads 'CricAuction — auction and live scoring'.

My details. The greyed-out boxes at the top are the permanent ones.

DETAIL	CAN YOU CHANGE IT?
Mobile number	Yes — whenever you like
Address	Yes
Photo	Yes — leave the box empty to keep the current one
Kind of player	Yes
Full name	No — ask an administrator
Email address	No — ask an administrator
Username	No — ask an administrator

The permanent fields are shown greyed out. That is not a fault; it is the rule described when you registered.

7 The auction, and after

You do not have to do anything on auction day, and you do not bid for yourself. Team owners bid; an administrator brings the hammer down.

You can watch it happen — the live auction board is open to anyone, signed in or not. Choose Live auction.

Afterwards, My details shows the outcome for each tournament:

WHAT IT SAYS	WHAT IT MEANS
In the auction pool	Your lot has not come up yet
Sold to <team>	You have been bought. That team is now yours
Unsold in this round	Nobody bid. You can be re-listed in a later round — ask the organisers

Unsold is not the end

A player who goes unsold stays in the pool and the administrator can put them back into a later round of the same auction. It happens to good players every year.

8 Your password

Choose Password in the bar at the top of any screen you are signed in to. You will need your current password, and the new one needs at least eight characters with a letter and a number in it. It cannot be the same as the old one.

The change-password screen, reached from the top navigation.

If you are sent here the moment you sign in

That means the password you used was issued by an administrator. It is temporary. No other screen will open until you replace it with one only you know. Do that once and you will not see this again.

Forgotten it? There is no reset-by-email. Ask an administrator: they can issue a new password and read it out to you, and you will be asked to change it straight away.

9 If something goes wrong

WHAT YOU SEE	WHAT TO DO
Sign out does not seem to work	Make sure you are on the current version. If it persists, close the browser tab
“Your session expired. Please try again.”	The page sat open too long. Do it again — nothing was lost
The page looks unstyled, plain text on white	A file did not load. Refresh; if it persists, tell the organisers
You cannot upload a photo	It must be JPEG, PNG or WebP and under 3 MB. Photos straight from some cameras are larger
You are signed out unexpectedly	Your account may have been suspended. Ask the organisers
You are sent to a “Change password” screen every time	An administrator reset your password. Change it and it will stop

10 Words you will see

TERM	WHAT IT MEANS
Auction list	The pool of players who can be bid for. You enter it when your application is approved
Base price	The lowest amount anyone can buy you for. The administrator sets it
Lot	One player being auctioned — your turn under the hammer
Purse	The money a team has to spend
Secret code	The eight characters that let you join a tournament
Sold / Unsold	Whether anybody bid for you before the hammer fell
Squad	The players one team has bought

11 Getting help

Two different kinds of problem, and they go to different people.

KIND OF PROBLEM	WHO TO ASK
Your account, your details, approvals, tournament codes, deadlines	Your tournament administrator — they can change all of it
The application itself: a page that will not load, a wrong number, something broken	Deam Software Solutios, through your administrator

When reporting a fault, say what you were doing, what you expected, and what happened instead. A photograph of the screen is worth a paragraph.
